Change Printer Plug-in For FileMaker [2022]

Change Printer Plug-in for FileMaker is a simple utility that can be integrated into FileMaker Pro to provide extensive printing support. Designed for both Windows and macOS users, the app is particularly suitable for large printing projects. Printers and printing drivers like inkjet, label, laser and PDF can be switched automatically thanks to this tool. It also gives you the possibility to change the default system printer, specify optional printing attributes, and set the length of the print dialog when brought up to the screen. Further, you can select the number of copies for the printing job, set the preferred orientation to either portrait or landscape, as well as make a list of all printers linked to the computer to store them in FileMaker to be able to quickly access them in future projects. It's possible to edit the delay time before printing starts, modify the tray name, and set the page size and record set to prepare the computer for large printing jobs that will not require your attention during the process. All features of this application can be tested for 30 days for free. After this period, you can either remove it from your computer or get the full edition. So if you want to work with printers, this app will be most useful to you.
