

Oct 7, 2020 - Wait 30 seconds for the router to reboot. Finally, turn on the power to the router. Step - 2. First, open any Internet browser (like Firefox or Google...). Then type: 192.168.1.1 in the address bar, and press Enter. Step - 3. Next, in the window that appears, enter admin in the login and password line. If it is not specified, then click "Forgot your password". After that a window will open in a new tab, in which you will need to specify the e-mail address or phone number indicated in the profile. Step - 4. In the window that appears, enter the login and password you specified when you first turned on the router. Then click "Login" or "Continue".
