Them's Fightin' Herds is an indie fighting game developed by Mane6 and published by Maximum Games. Unlike most side-scrolling fighting games, the action takes place on a classic hexagonal game board. The player controls a figure similar to the character from the movie "Alien", which moves around the battlefield. As the game progresses, the number of cells on the field increases. The goal of the game is to defeat all enemies and if successful, the player will be able to collect all the characters from the Alien movie.
