This is a blog where I share my experience with all things related to Train Simulator. I like to share my passion for trains with everyone and I hope that you will share yours with me too. It is a personal blog so don't expect or give some fancy reviews or news about me unless it is something that I have said about myself and that you have known for a long time. it is also possible to download the full game at the same place. If you look there you can find up to date reviews about the game and how the fixes are working. Who can help me: I know that many of us who play simulators do not give sufficient attention to the news about the game and some of us even do not even look on these sites because of the many errors that are described there. I am here for an idea. How about posting a list with all "important" things that have been improved in the game since the last release but is not picked up by some "big guns" of the community? I like to play simulators and my interest in them is increasing lately. I read this forum almost every day but sometimes the updates are missed. I thought of posting a list of updates in the form of a review, so if you have any information that you think is relevant please drop me a mail. Hi Pat Regards, Marlon Click to expand... Marlon, I think that is a great idea. It would be a lot of work to put it together but if you find people who are helpful with that it might be a very interesting project. I do agree that it is possible to have some kind of interview with the people who work on the game but that does not guarantee that these improvements are passed onto the next version. If you want to have this review ready to post at the earliest possible moment, we can start with that kind of review but I do not think that the game will be ready for some time. I am planning on starting with the arcade and then the OS version. Who can help me: I know that many of us who play simulators do not give sufficient attention to the news about the game and some of us even do not even look on these sites because of the many errors that are described there. A: How can I share screen with my friends? I don't know. You could use a virtual keyboard and mouse, or a software system that lets two or more people use one console to play the game, but I don't know of any such software. Q: Object Oriented Programming - Multithreading I am new to java programming. I would like to know about the multithreading in java. What exactly I understand is, when we use multithreading, we are creating seperate java thread. In this, main thread work on application and main thread gets runned. Each thread will run separately. But there are some cases when we will have only one thread. how this works, when there is only one thread. From where the thread comes. As in case of methods, no it will not be possible to have a method and there will only be only one thread. Please let me know, where I am wrong or that I don't understand. A: You are right. But you're completely wrong to say that each thread would run separately. A program consisting of multiple threads running concurrently (in other words, several threads running at the same time) is not a single thread. (And hence, a single thread is not a program.) The main program (the one c9d1549cdd procedures in Japan Volcanic eruptions cover the ground of east coast of Japan. The quake and tsunami of 2011 occurred in Tohoku region and Miyagi prefecture in particular. Tohoku is one of the most active volcanic regions in the world and central Japan is also known as the Earthquake prone zone. The Sunday quake has created new fears and the residents of its affected areas are changing their behavior. They have developed a new set of procedures to protect their life. Next is the earthquake escape procedures in Japan. Protecting your life in the earthquake We would like to have earthquake awareness drills and procedures ready at any time. We should not keep our behavior in a routine. It is a normal practices that everyone including the store staff, security guards and medical staff should develop their actions in case any emergency happens and it includes earthquake. The preparation is keeping our behavior that's when we keep our heads together and carry on living. These are the procedures that we can do to keep our life in an emergency. As an escape measures earthquake is one of the risk factors that we should be ready for. Responsibility The first thing you should do is to consider what you should do before the disaster. You should check the road conditions, evacuate the building or instruction from the government, after the earthquake and know the location of the place from which you want to evacuate. Also, consider the effect on children, the elderly, or the disabled. In order to evacuate the children and the elderly, you should check if you have enough transport and if your immediate family could be present in shelters. Find out if the shelter could be some in your neighborhood. Movement from death house to repair After an earthquake, majority of people would feel pain, and fear of dying. It may cause to be in shock or lack of energy as some people are not in quite a good situation to survive. The anxiety can lead to an excessive tension. An earthquake may also knock your out of control. You should know clearly what you will do and you should reserve your energy for an emergency or if you do that this is the thing: do your actions promptly. With the heavy noise of the earthquake and the muffled crackling of falling objects, it may be difficult to hear the warning signs of a possible tsunami. The
