What's New In GeoLocation?

This addon is designed to be used for worldwide IP tracking for only yahoo and some other networks. Currently it only supports internet service providers (ISP). If the IP address is not known, GeoLocation will try to get a response from Yahoo. This is usually a GET request. Installation: * Drop the folder extracted in your "C: drive" to your /usr/lib/yahoo/ui/ folder The most recent version of this addon is already installed on your machine. You can install the addon by downloading GeoLocation again if you have not done so already. The installation is as easy as everytime. Place the zip in your /usr/lib/yahoo/ui/ folder and run the setup. * If your ISP is by default configured for GeoLocation you will see a button called "Geo Location" in your dashboard. Hit the button and the data and IP is received from Yahoo. * If you do not have this button in your dashboard then you need to reconfigure your yahoo settings. Thats it! *This addon is a free addon. No charge will be made if you download this addon to your site. If you use this addon without paying the small price for it (see the price section) this is known as free riding. *You must sign up to get the results. Please take a minute to register and you will be able to get the results. * The addon is split up into several files. You must run the setup_addon.exe file before you can use the addon. * This addon is in the alpha stage. The addon contains a bug that causes a click on the results button to not return the correct results. The bug has been resolved however in the latest version of the addon. You must sign up to get the results. Please take a minute to register and you will be able to get the results. Note: The Yahoo login is password protected. So I cannot give out the login information for privacy reasons. You must register to get results. The most recent version of the addon is already installed on your machine. You can install the addon by downloading GeoLocation again if you have not done so already. The installation is as easy as everytime. Place the zip in your /usr/lib/yahoo/ui/ folder and run the setup. * If your ISP is by default configured for GeoLocation you will see a button
