Director Matt Reeves had also been struck by the fact that neither party's profile had anything about them being bipolar. In an interview with Zap2it, he said: "Bipolar disorder is very common, especially people in the creative industries. It's a big part of our lives. We can all remember the feeling of having an inner voice — that dominant, loud, crazy voice within you — and I think one of the really great things about the film is that it gives you a way of understanding, and also a chance to look inside that. It becomes a really important thing in your life and for your relationships." Reception Critical response to the film has generally been positive, with some critics finding it equally impressive with its autism portrayals. On review aggregator website Rotten Tomatoes, the film holds an approval rating of 81% based on 147 reviews, with an average rating of 7.1/10. The site's critical consensus reads, "Though it shares a unique perspective, A Quiet Place actively avoids making social critique of its characters' restrictive beliefs – or, for that matter, making itself a central issue." On Metacritic, the film has a weighted average score of 72 out of 100

have 60 days to decide whether to reimpose sanctions that had been lifted under the 2015 agreement. | Scott Olson/Getty Images Foreign Policy 'Nuclear agreement is far from over' as Trump weighs 'dramatic' action on Iran The Iran deal requires approval from Congress if Trump moves to reimpose sanctions. Iran and the world's major powers are bracing for what one official described as "a very dramatic moment" Thursday, when President Donald Trump is expected to decide whether to decertify the landmark nuclear deal and reimpose sanctions that had been lifted under the accord. Although Trump's decision won't immediately trigger a decision by Congress, as the next 60 days expire after the president's notification to Congress, it's "not at all clear" that Congress would opt to reimpose sanctions. "If we go back to the original intent of Congress, as well as the president, and we don't like the deal, we should walk away from it," said Secretary of State Mike Pompeo, who appeared before the House Foreign Affairs Committee on Wednesday, a day after Trump set a May 12 deadline for the president to act on his Iran policy, which has been evolving since his speech on Tuesday night. The internal debate inside the Trump administration about whether to certify the Iran deal "will ultimately
