On Monday, a federal judge in Seattle issued a preliminary injunction blocking Washington state's newly enacted "sanctuary" law from going into effect, citing "strong evidence" that the law would "cause the destruction of immigrant community trust in local law enforcement." This sets up a potentially interesting case for the Supreme Court, but for now it puts the state on pause. The Washington State

System Requirements For AutoCAD:

Windows XP, Vista, 7, 8, and 10 are supported, as well as Windows 2000. MacOS X 10.5 and newer are also supported, as well as Linux distributions with Xorg and libgl1-mesa-dev installed. If you're using FreeBSD and don't see your OS in the list, it probably isn't supported, you need to install the libgl1-mesa-dri package and the mesa-utils package, and then run "add-apt-repository ppa:upstream-rebellion"
